FINANCES.

The financial condition of the prisons, although as favorable as we anticipated, does not show as well as in some years of the past. The reasons may be readily understood. The unprecedented high prices of everything required for the support of the prisons; the greatly reduced number of convicts, and consequent reduction in the amount of convict earnings; the fact that under the contract system, nearly the same number of officers is required; and the same amount of fuel and light, as though the prisons were full; and the further fact of the increase of the salaries of the officers—all these combined, readily explain the greater contrast between the earnings and expenses compared with some previous years.

As, since the close of the war, the prisons are rapidly filling up, and the contracts recently let are at a higher price for the labor of the convicts than formerly paid, and there being a prospect of a reduction in the price of the various articles necessary for their maintenance, there is reason to believe that for the support of the prisons in the future, the draft upon the Treasury will be greatly reduced; and, notwithstanding the fact that crime in this State has heretofore been anything but a source of revenue, that the prisons may, possibly, become nearly or quite self-sustaining.

BUILDINGS.

During the past year a very fine moulding shop has been built at Auburn, which does credit to the State. An office, which has long been needed at Sing Sing, is now being built. It is carefully planned, and will be conveniently arranged. Improvements have also been made in some of the buildings at Clinton Prison, adding much to their comfort and convenience.

CLINTON PRISON.

It having been evident for some time that it was impossible to make advantageous contracts for the labor of the convicts at Clinton prison, and existing contracts being about to expire, the Legislature of last winter early in the session passed an act authorizing the purchase of machinery and materials for the manufacture of iron and nails for the State. The machinery and materials having been duly procured, the experiment of employing the convicts on labor for the State has had a trial of several months duration, and although in its infancy, we are encouraged to believe will prove a success.

THE FEMALE PRISON.

At the female prison, Sing Sing, there were, at the close of the fiscal year, one hundred and fifty-nine convicts, while there are but one hundred and eight cells. By an act of the last Legislature it was provided that female convicts sent from the seventh and eighth judicial districts should be removed to the penitentiaries of Rochester and Buffalo; and also that those in future convicted of crimes punishable by imprisonment in the State prisons, with the exception of those convicted of the crimes of murder, manslaughter or arson, should be confined in the penitentiaries of the cities named. The effect of this act has been, of course, to greatly relieve the female prison of its crowded condition; but as there were still, at the close of the year, fifty-one more convicts than there were cells, and as the number of convicts is rapidly increasing, it at once becomes evident that further legislation is required in the premises, as the number of convicts should not exceed the number of cells.

The Legislature of last winter passed an act declaring that "no insane female convict shall hereafter be sent to the State Lunatic Asylum at Utica." It will be at once apparent that with the present limited accommodations at Sing Sing, insane female convicts cannot be provided for there. The question then arises, where shall they be placed? Unless the act above referred to is repealed, the erection of a building, for the sole purpose of affording an asylum for insane female convicts, becomes necessary, and is, in fact, imperatively required.

LAW SUITS.

At the time of making our report last year, a suit was pending for damages arising out of transactions at Sing Sing prison twenty-five years ago. The inspectors defended the action through ex-Judge Edmonds and Hon. John B. Haskins. It being almost impossible to obtain living witnesses or actual facts, judgment was rendered against the State to the amount of over fifty thousand dollars; and the Legislature of last winter acting under the advice of the Comptroller, made an appropriation of twenty thousand dollars, by the payment of which the whole matter was finally settled.

The law-suits at Clinton prison, for demands against the Messrs. Kingsland, their sureties and endorsers, were, as stated in our report of last year, submitted to Judge Paige, of Schenectady, as sole referee, for his decision, which has since been obtained, and judgments rendered in favor of the State to the amount of $53,- 034.57. Hopes are entertained by the inspectors that some portion at least of the amount due the State may be recovered on the judgments rendered, although executions issued have thus far been returned unsatisfied.

LIGHTING SING SING PRISON.

The cost of gas for the lighting of Sing Sing Prison is very considerable, and far greater than, in our opinion, it should be; but the remedy is not in our hands, and no improvement need be expected so long as we are compelled to depend upon the present source of supply. It would be far better if the prison were furnished the means of manufacturing its own gas, and the attention of the Legislature is respectfully called to the subject.

HOSPITAL ACCOMMODATIONS.

While the prisons at Auburn and Clinton are provided with large and pleasantly arranged hospitals, those at both the male and female prisons at Sing Sing are entirely inadequate to their requirements. This is particularly true of the hospital of the male prison, which was not suitable for the attentions and accommodations demanded when the number of convicts was comparatively small; and now that the number is large, and rapidly increasing, still greater inconveniences are experienced, and a change should be made in accordance with the demands of humanity, and the maintenance of the dignity and greatness of the State of New York.

SABBATH SCHOOLS AND TEACHERS.

The Sabbath schools at Auburn and Clinton, and at the Female prison, Sing Sing, are still continued.

The one at Auburn is conducted by Mr. Yates, who has so long and faithfully acted as its Superintendent, assisted by students of the Theological Seminary, and a few citizens.

The one at Clinton prison is under the personal supervision of the chaplain, the Rev. Mr. Canfield, assisted by the officers of the prison. The chaplain conducts it in a manner calculated to maintain a lively interest in the exercises.

The one at the female prison is under the care of the matron, Mrs. Hubbard, and is well sustained. We have reason to believe that the Sabbath schools are productive of much good.

There are two teachers at Auburn, two at Sing Sing, and one at Clinton, whose business it is to instruct the convicts in reading, writing, arithmetic and grammar, they devoting a certain portion of time in the evening to this purpose. The number of teachers should at least be doubled; and as the pay of each is but twelve dollars per month, the cost would be nothing compared with the benefits resulting from their labors.

VISITING THE PRISONS.

Upon every week day, and particularly during the summer season, there are large numbers who visit the prisons, going through the different departments. An admission fee of twenty-five cents each is demanded, which creates a fund which is divided among the convicts as their terms of sentence expire. While not disposed to ignore the pecuniary advantage of this system, we are still of the opinion that general visiting of the prisons is productive of much evil. While the convicts are in the main from the lower strata of society, they nevertheless keenly feel the degradation of their position, a position still more difficult to bear from their being made the subjects of idle curiosity, stared at and commented upon by those who have no interest whatsoever in their welfare.

To men of strong and violent passions, who are denied all social intercourse and domestic association, the effect of scores of women parading daily through the departments of the prisons can be only demoralizing, a fact which no false modesty or over-sensitive delicacy should cause us to ignore. And we are satisfied that it would be better if women were not permitted to go through the male prisons, nor men through the female prison.

For further information, attention is called to the reports of the agents and wardens, and other officers of the several prisons, and the statistical tables accompanying the same.

The Inspectors take pleasure in commending the principal officers of the several prisons, for the ability shown in the management of the departments under their charge; and also in stating that the keepers, guards and assistant matrons, have shown a disposition to faithfully discharge the duties entrusted to their care.

THE STATE ASYLUM FOR INSANE CONVICTS.

This institution, located at Auburn, on grounds adjacent to the prison, is still in the charge of Dr. Charles E. Van Auden, superintendent. Full information in relation to the condition of the asylum can be had by reference to the tables and statements accompanying his report.

There were eighty patients in the asylum during the fiscal year, and seventy-three remaining at its close.

The current expenses of the year were $16,699.18.

The inventory, made by the appraisers, gave the following result :

Personal property.....	$11,395	24
Real estate.....	82,291	00
Total valuation.....	$93,686	24

In May last the office of assistant and clerk was resigned by Mr. J. W. Wright, and in July filled by the appointment of Mr. Henry A. Smith.

Several improvements have been made at the asylum during the year, among which may be mentioned increased facilities for heating the building, the enlargement of the flues to secure better ventilation, the building of a new floor for the basement dining room, the substitution of new water pipes for old, and the pointing of the front wall.

The Inspectors are greatly pleased with the manner in which the affairs of the asylum have been conducted by its efficient superintendent, who is possessed of those qualities and characteristics which peculiarly qualify him for the position he so ably fills.

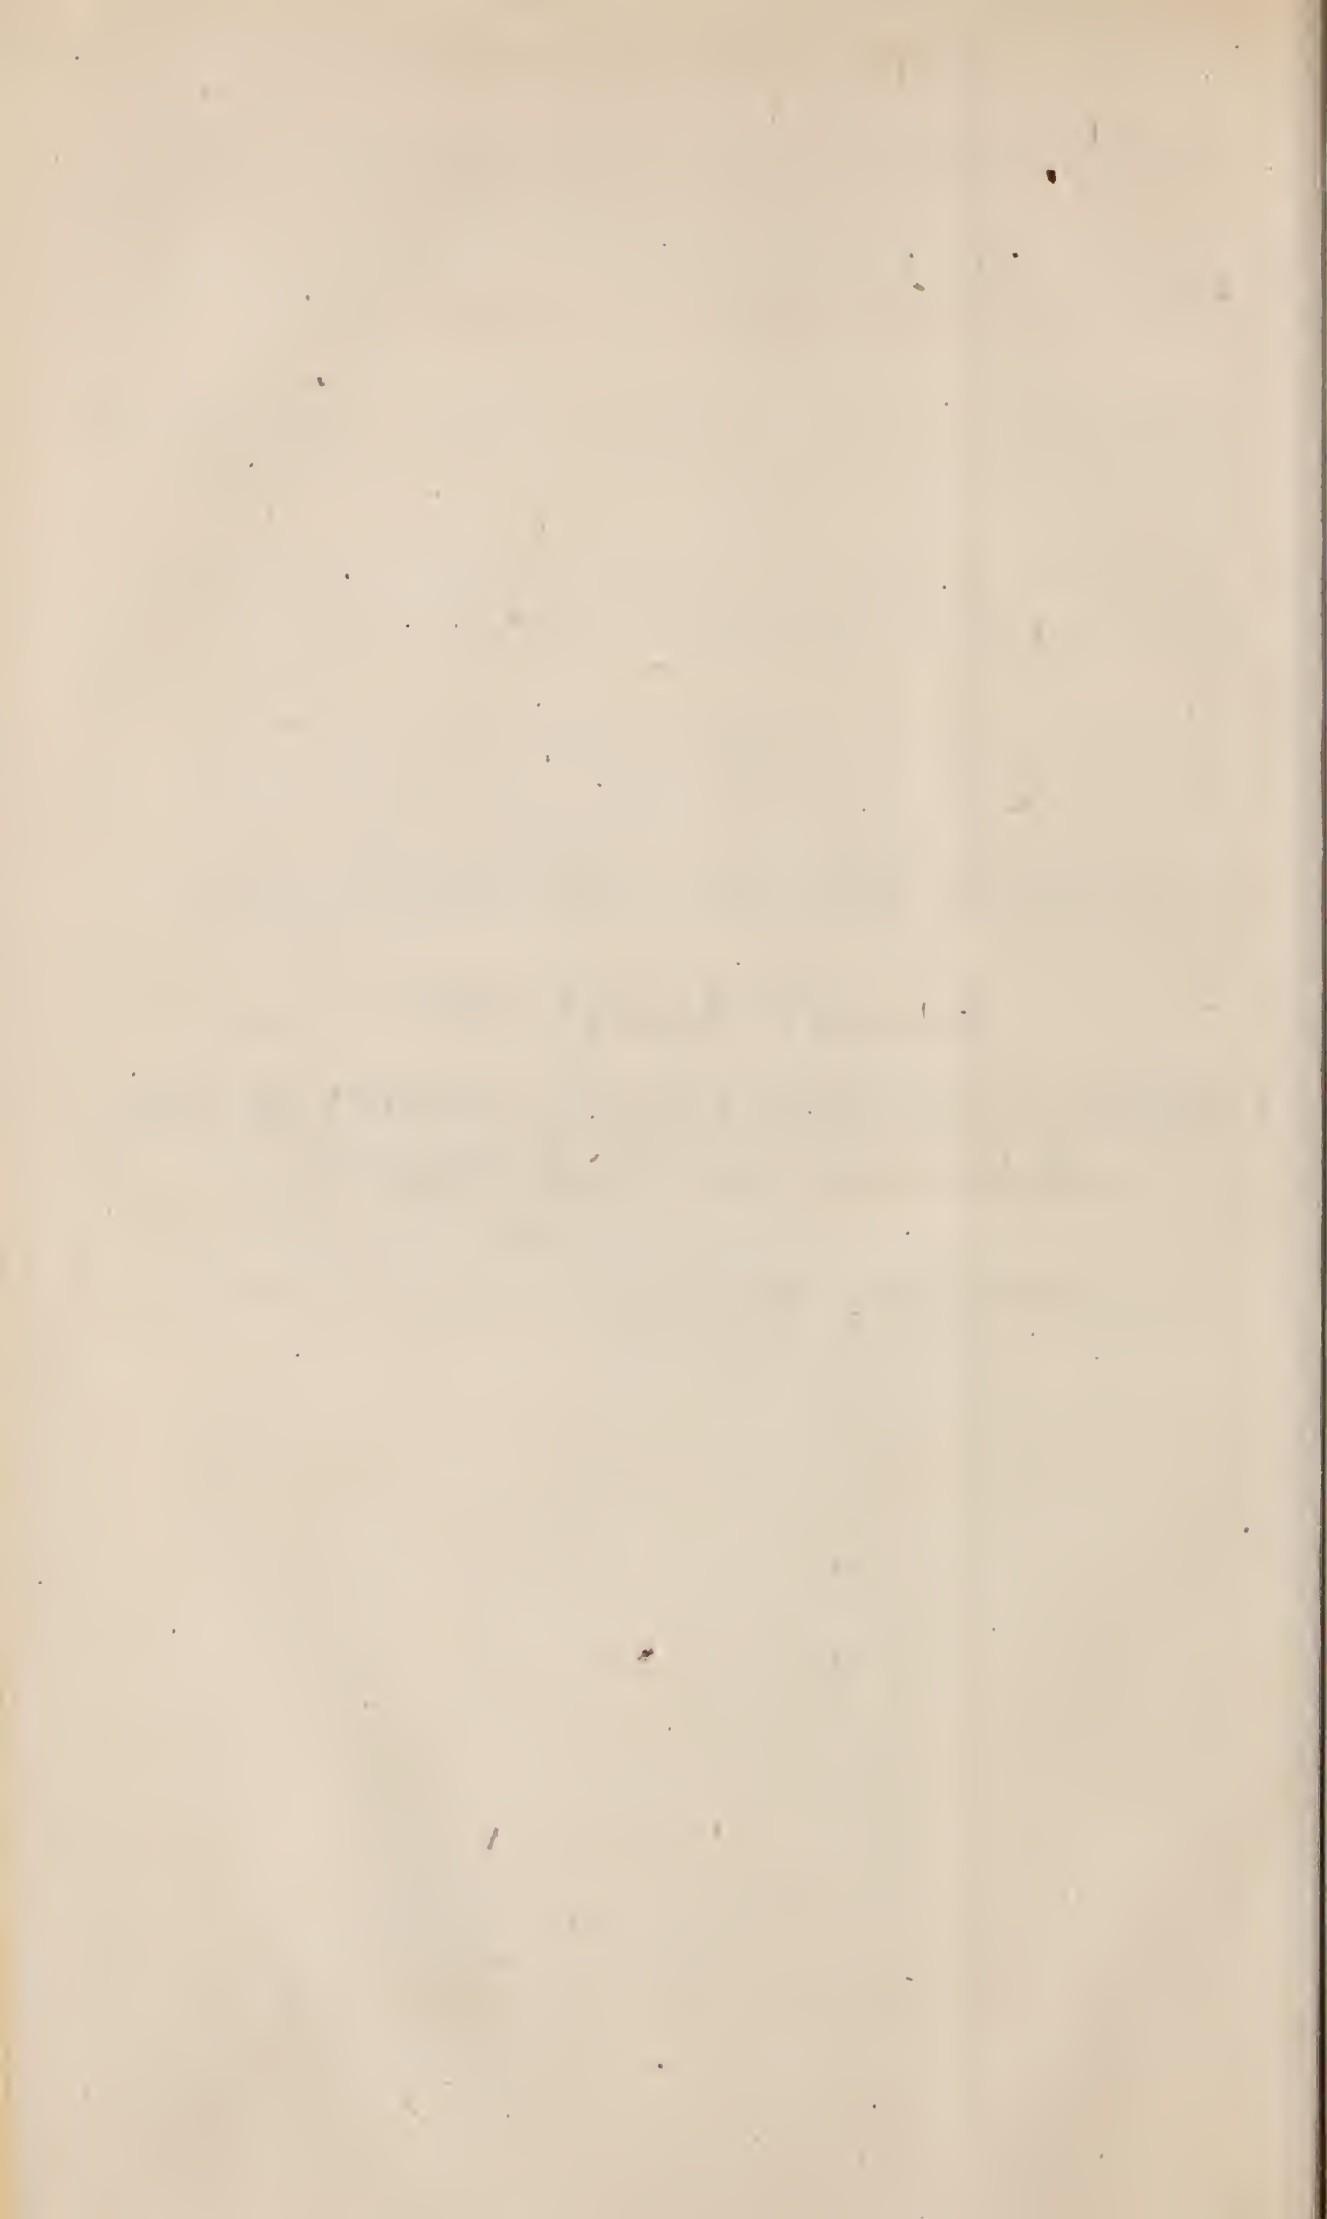

All of which is respectfully submitted,

SING SING PRISON.

AGENT AND WARDEN'S REPORT.

SING SING PRISON, October 1st, 1865.

To the Hon. the Inspectors of State Prisons:

Gentlemen—The undersigned, the agent and warden, submits the following report, pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, embracing the usual transactions of the prison during the fiscal year ending September 30, 1865.

The present agent and warden entered upon the duties of the office on the 23d of January, 1865, nearly four months after the commencement of the fiscal year.

At the time of assuming its duties he was, in a measure, unacquainted with its details, and therefore availed himself of many valuable suggestions of Thomas E. Sutton, Esq., his immediate predecessor, as well as the advice and counsel of G. B. Hubbell, Esq., who preceded Mr. Sutton, to both of whom I am under many obligations, as well as to the subordinate officers who have been associated with me.

I deem it proper, first, to make a detailed statement of the financial transactions for the year, and also a statement of the expenditures prior to, and also since, my connection with the prison, or since the first day of February, 1865, as the transactions of the month of January were principally confined to my predecessor. It will be seen that my connection with the financial concerns really commenced with the month of February last, and embraces but eight months of the fiscal year.

The financial transactions of the male department of the prison for the year ending September 30, 1865, are as follows:

Contract earnings.....	$57,383 96
Miscellaneous earnings	37,282 37
Total earnings.....	$94,666 33
Expended for ordinary support.....	$119,575 36
do officers salary.....	52,429 21
do building and repairs	9,127 46
Total expenditures.....	$181,132 03
Total earnings.....	94,666 33
Expenditures over earnings	$86,465 70

The following table exhibits the expenditures for the male department of the prison, from the 1st day of October, 1864, to the 1st day of February, 1865.

Expended for ordinary support.....	$48,314 11
do officers salaries.....	17,722 54
<hr/>
Total expenditures	$66,036 65
Monthly average.....	\$16,509 14 $\frac{3}{4}$
Expended for building and repairs during the same period.....	1,911 75
<hr/>
Making the total expenditures	$67,948 50
<hr/>

The following table exhibits the expenditures from the 1st day of February to the 1st day of October, 1865.

Expended for ordinary support	$71,261 25
do officers salary	34,706 67
<hr/>
Total	$105,967 92
Monthly average	$13,245 98
Expended for building and repairs during the same period.....	7,215 71
<hr/>
<hr/>

You are referred to the separate tables appended to this report for a more minute detail of these transactions. They are presented in the usual form, and will be found to contain all the information necessary.

The miscellaneous earnings comprise only such earnings as are kept in the clerk's account.

There is another class of earnings which do not appear in any published account, yet in proportion to the labor performed, the State derives as much benefit as from the labor of convicts on contract. I allude to the labor of convicts employed on state work.

During the year 4,868 days' work have been performed under the superintendency of Mr. R. A. Andrews, in building and repairs, grading and repairing roads and walks, when not thus employed they were at work in the quarry.

Mr. Hartford has had charge of the quarrymen and stone cutters, and has quarried out and cut for the State, 3,622 feet of stone, most of which has been used in the new building. The men under his charge during the year have performed 4,957 days labor.

Mr. Powell has had charge of the new building upon which 1,376 days' work has been done by the convicts.

We have also raised upon the State farm by convict labor:

100 barrels potatoes	$200 00
300 bushels onions.	300 00
200 do beets.....	200 00
250 do carrots	187 50
75 do parsnips	56 25
100 do turnips	50 00
25 tons hay.....	500 00
18,000 head of cabbage.....	1,800 00
16,000 pounds of pork.....	2,880 00
 Total	 <hr/>
	$6,173 75

I think it proper here to state that the days' labor above referred to, do not comprise all the labor performed by the men under the charge of the above named keepers. They are frequently employed in loading and unloading freight for contractors, of which an account is kept and reported as miscellaneous earnings.

I need not call your attention to the wants of the female prison. The accommodations are entirely inadequate for the large number of prisoners. The number of cells are so limited, that it becomes necessary to confine two persons in one of these small rooms. It is apparent that being crowded in such a small space, it must be injurious to the health of the convicts, and interferes very seriously with the discipline.

The hospital accommodations are too limited, although they have been enlarged to some extent during the year. It has now the advantage of better ventilation than before, still it is not as it should be.

Mr. Woodruff's contract for twenty-five women will expire on the first day of November, which leaves but fifty women on contract. It is desirable that all the women that can be spared from State work should be placed upon contract. Arrangements can, I think, be made to effect that object. If the women could be employed at some kind of labor at which they could learn a trade, it would be of vast service after they are discharged, to aid them in procuring an honest living, thus diverting them from the pathway of crime.

Mrs. Hubbard, the principal matron, as well as her assistants, are entitled to great credit for their fidelity in the management of that department. They have secured the confidence of the convicts, who as a general thing, yield obedience to the rules and discipline of the prison.

If, as suggested, all the women could be placed on one contract, and at such work as they are best adapted, it would tend to make them less disposed to be refractory, and thus aid in maintaining discipline. I think it can be accomplished, and would recommend the board to give it their special attention.

The financial transactions of this department are as follows:

Contract earnings	$4,312 18
Miscellaneous earnings	923 90
Total earnings	$5,236 08
Expended for ordinary support	$22,158 52
do officers' salaries	6,928 39
do building and repairs	862 45
Total expenditures	$29,949 36
Total earnings	5,236 08
Expenditures over earnings	$24,713 28

At the last session of the Legislature an act was passed appropriating the sum of $3,000 for building. During the summer, the old barber shop adjoining the agent's house, was taken away, and a new substantial stone building erected in its place. This has required the labor of eighteen convicts, who have performed 1,376 days' labor, the average value of which is at least $1.50 per day, and should properly be classed with miscellaneous earnings. At the present time the building is nearly completed.

By reference to the tables accompanying this report, it will be seen that a large amount has been expended for building and repairs. This was necessary to preserve the buildings from dilapidation and decay. It has been my aim, in making improvements, to make them in such a manner as to render them as permanent as possible.

Upon the subject of overwork, by convicts, it seems to me, that it requires some investigation as well as a change in the manner of keeping the accounts. The present mode of requiring the contractors to pay the amount of overwork monthly into the hands of the clerk, I think is as it should be. I do not, however, see the propriety of classing these earnings with miscellaneous earnings. It is a question in which the state has no interest. It is simply a matter between the contractor and the convict, and the payment of the money to the clerk has for its object the protection of the convict. It is the duty of the officer to see that no abuse is practiced toward the convict, and that it shall not operate injuriously to the discipline of the prison.

The system is open to great abuse, unless the contractors are men of strict integrity. I am happy to say that I have full confidence in the contractors at this prison, as well as their agents, and so far as I have been able to discover, they have manifested a disposition to co-operate with the officers in maintaining discipline. I think overwork should be encouraged ; it has a tendency, while the convict is employed on his own account, after his daily labor is done, to draw his mind back to the family circle, now broken by his incarceration. He feels that he is doing something towards the support of those who are entitled to his protection. It tends to soften his feelings, and leads him to reflect upon his past life, and to realise what he has lost by his career of crime.

I would respectfully suggest that a separate account for over-work be kept by the clerk, and at the end of the year a separate table made, showing the condition of that branch of convict earnings, by itself.

My connection with the prison has convinced me, that the whole contract system, as it now exists, is wrong, and in some way should be changed. It is difficult to enforce good discipline when it exists. Conflicting interests are brought in contact, and there is a continual jarring between foremen and convicts.

The foreman's interest is the contractor's interest, and the interest of the contractor is to get all the work out of the convicts he can. The foreman is responsible to no one but the contractor, hence it is immaterial to him what the conduct of the convict may be so long as he gets the work done. As a general thing, convicts are shrewd, observing men, and readily detect anything like injustice towards them, and they are not slow, when injustice is practiced, to resent it.

During my connection with the institution, it has been my aim to have a strict discipline maintained. I am aware there are various opinions as to the proper course to be pursued to secure that end. In my judgment, it should be the study of prison officers, not to degrade the convict beyond the requirements of the law. They are sent to the prison as a punishment for violating law. The judgment pronounced upon them for their offenses, deprives them of certain rights, but beyond this, their remaining rights are as sacred to them as to any one else. While the officer, in the discharge of his duty, carries the sentence of the law into effect, he should see to it, that all the legal rights of the prisoner, which still remain, are not encroached upon. It is desirable, when their term of imprisonment expires, and they are again permitted to mingle with the world, if they are not better men, they should, at least, be no worse than when they came in.

To attain this end, every officer connected with the prison, should be careful so to demean himself, as to convince the convict that he intends to act in strict justice towards him. It has been my custom, before putting a man upon contract, or assigning him any place of labor, to explain to him the rules of the prison, and by such kind advice as I may be able to give, induce him to render implicit obedience to whatever may be required of him. At the same time, he is informed of the consequences to be expected from a different course. For the violation of his country's laws, justice has overtaken him, and he consigned to prison as a punishment, and for a violation of prison laws, punishment is sure to follow. If we would govern them properly, we should act towards them in such a manner as will secure their confidence and respect, and at the same time let them understand that the discipline of the prison must be enforced at all hazards. As a general thing, the convicts seem contented, at least, as much so, as could be expected of men under the circumstances.

My observation has convinced me that too many visitors are admitted into the prison. The effect seems to me to be injurious to allow females to visit the shops of the male prison, to the extent at present allowed. The same objection applies to males visiting the female prison. It tends to make the inmates uneasy and discontented. As a general thing, the desire to visit arises from a morbid curiosity, and should not be tolerated, unless some laudable reason can be assigned. The prisoners feel their degradation from their incarceration, and should not be subjected to the idle gaze of curiosity seekers. I respectfully direct your attention to the subject, hoping that some plan may be devised to place it under proper restriction.

There are points connected with the pecuniary interest of the prison to which I beg leave to call your attention, and trust that some speedy action may be taken. I refer to lighting of the prison and other buildings connected with it. It costs the State upwards of $3,500 per year for the item of gas, and even then we are not at all times supplied with a sufficient quantity to meet our wants.

An apparatus for supplying the prison with gas can be procured for a less sum than we are now annually paying for the gas alone. I have examined several different kinds of apparatus, and I have no doubt that it will be a great saving to the State, to manufacture its own gas. It would, however, require an appropriation by the Legislature, and I would recommend that an appropriation be made for the purpose.

Our means for extinguishing fires are entirely too limited. With the amount of property exposed, the number of buildings and their close proximity to each other, no pains should be spared to render them as secure as possible.

There should be an eight-inch pipe from the reservoir to the prison yard, where it could be distributed by means of smaller pipes and hydrants to every part of the prison. To each hydrant hose should be attached, and in a few minutes after a fire is discovered, a stream of water could be turned upon it, and the fire speedily extinguished.

This, also, will require an act of the Legislature, and I think the interest of the State requires that it should be done.

The law limits us to thirty guards for the protection of both prisons. It is apparent the number is too small to make them secure. For several years it has been necessary to employ a larger number, all of whom have been paid without authority of law, and it has only been justified as a matter of necessity. I see no objection in allowing the Inspectors to appoint the necessary guards to guard the prison, leaving the number to their discretion. This also requires legislative sanction.

I have thus called your attention to such points as I have deemed important and the exigence of the case demands.

As a matter of course, an institution of the magnitude of this, requires much care and attention to manage. Repairs are constantly required to protect the buildings. Conflicting interests between the contractors and the State frequently occur, which adds to the labor of the agent. The proper discipline of the convicts, also requires much time and attention. In this I have been greatly aided by Major Stanley, principal keeper, in whose judgment and experience I have entire confidence.

The health of the convicts during the year has been all that could be expected. It must be remembered that many of the men have been brought from the lowest depths of depravity and vice. They come with constitutions shattered by dissipation, and their physical system almost destroyed by diseases of the most disgusting character, many of whom are entirely unfit for any service whatever.

The position of physician at this prison is no sinecure. He is brought in daily contact with these men, and required to treat their various maladies. In short, he assumes a responsibility of no ordinary character.

Dr. Pryne has discharged his duties faithfully, and to his attentive watchfulness, in a great measure, may be attributed the general health of the convicts.

To all the officers of the institution, I am under many obligations, for the uniform courtesy which I have received at their hands during the time I have been associated with them. The utmost harmony and unanimity has prevailed, and each officer has seemed to vie with the other, which could most faithfully perform his duty.

In conclusion, gentlemen, allow me to tender to you, and to each of you, my sincere thanks, for your uniform kindness and courtesy, as well as for your counsel and advice, which long experience enables you to give, and which has greatly aided me in the discharge of my duties.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

JAMES R. BATES. Inspector of State Prisons.

PHYSICIAN'S REPORT.

SING SING PRISON HOSPITAL, }
September 30, 1865. }

To the Hon. Board of Inspectors of State Prisons:

Gentlemen—The following is the report of the medical department of this prison, for the year ending September 30, 1865:

The whole number of convicts in the male prison at this date are 784; of which 200 are sound; twenty-three have right, and twelve left, inguinal hernia; three both right and left; three have lost a leg, each; one has lost an arm; fifteen have lost one eye, each; five have ankylosis of joint of leg; five of arm; two have entire paralysis of lower extremities; eighty-five have the developments of scrofula; three hundred and twenty have had the venereal in some form, and the remainder are subject to disease in its various forms, too numerous to classify.

The number treated in hospital was 243, of which 216 have recovered, thirteen have died, and fourteen still remain under treatment.

Of the deaths, one resulted from suicide; twelve were caused by disease of the respiratory organs, most of which had the venereal taint, and all were victims to scrofula, which unavoidable circumstances connected with imprisonment, and the secret habit of self-pollution, destructive to both mind and body, materially hastened to develop. The want of proper amount of sunlight, and thorough and free ventilation of the apartments, the almost constant depressing passions, remorse or grief, operating upon the mind, conduce powerfully to this deplorable result.

Of casualties there have been only two of a serious nature and none fatal.

Three being deemed improper subjects for prison discipline, were transferred to the Insane Asylum. There were no means of ascertaining their previous history or family characteristic, and consequently am unable to say whether their state of mind was the result of imprisonment, or a hereditary predisposition to insanity.

On the requisition of the proper officer, medicines and supplies of good quality and sufficient quantity, have been promptly furnished on all occasions by the agent Judge Johnson.

Mr. Alonzo Burrhus, hospital-keeper, by his usual efficient supervision, has rendered much aid in the necessary arrangements for the care of the sick. Being a practical druggist, of a naturally kind disposition, few could be found his equal, none his superior, for this useful and responsible position.

The medicines have been properly compounded and dispensed, the food carefully prepared and served as ordered by me; and the nurse (Bryan Rooney) has labored diligently to insure cleanliness of the patients, and otherwise care for and minister to the wants of his afflicted sick fellow prisoners, with a faithfulness meriting a better fate.

The necessity of personal cleanliness is strictly enjoined upon all, and maintained by regular and frequent bathing; besides being a source of comfort and healthful, it is, in many cases, a curative agent; and the plunge bath, recently introduced, is one of the most useful sanitary arrangements connected with the prison.

A large tub, with the necessary means for heating the water, in the reception dressing room, is necessary to secure proper personal cleanliness of new comers, many of whom are covered with vermin as well as filth. A first thorough bathing, with soap and warm water, is indispensable for the good of the prison, and would tend, materially, to keep it free from vermin, filth and disease.

The food furnished by the agent has been good and in sufficient quantity. It is kept and delivered from the store room in good condition, and cooked and well served in the mess room. The fresh beef served twice a week is none to frequent, three times would be better. It would also be a benefit to the general health to serve, occasionally, and especially during winter and spring months, pickled (sour) vegetables. Being anti-scorbutic they would act as a good preserver of health, and be an excellent addition to the bill of fare.

The clothing of the men are kept clean by frequent washing, and is of such texture as ordinarily to insure warmth. The addition of under-clothes (shirts and drawers) during the inclement season, would to most, if not all, conduce to their health and comfort. A lighter material for summer wear would seem more comfortable and quite as economical.

The hall, cells and bedding, are kept clean and in good order by frequent scrubbing and washing, bearing evidence of good care. The means of heating and ventilating the prison are inadequate, and might be improved by perforating the outer wall at each end, and by an additional steam pipe the entire length of the hall. This would afford some means of keeping the lower tier of cells dry, as well as improve the ventilation of the whole prison.

Of the employment about the prison the most healthful is outdoor work, the least is in shops requiring the sedentary habit to perform the task. Polishing iron-ware upon the emery-wheel cannot be borne a long while by those having the least predisposition to lung difficulties. Long continued confinement requiring the same position, and especially where there is much dust, tends to weaken the body and impair the health. A change in the kind and mode of labor, in a number of particulars, would be a sanitary improvement on the present system. Employment in sunlight and air, free from dust, allowing the different positions of the body, requiring from each what they can perform, without much regard to the rule of full task or none, would result in an increased amount of labor, and thus be a benefit to both State and convict.

The female prison has received a resonable portion of my time and attention. There have been admitted to its hospital forty-seven patients, of which thirty-nine have recovered, four have died, two from phthisis pulmonalis, one from puerperal peritonitis, one from dysentery, and four still remain under treatment.

Under the immediate supervision of Mrs. Hubbard, the matron, the medicines prescribed have been properly administered, and the food and drink carefully prepared and served, and all other duties of nurse have been faithfully performed by the attendant (Celeste Lachcile), who has acted well her part in the care of the sick.

There have been born, in the lying-in hospital, during the year, six children; and the accommodation for them are very limited and badly arranged. The room occupied as a nursery is improperly ventilated and can receive sunlight but a small portion of the day, and during wet weather is more or less damp. More comfortable and healthful quarters could be provided for them by carrying the walls of the room, now occupied, one story higher, and extending it to the north corner of the outer wall. This would make a good sized room; could be properly ventilated, have sufficient sunlight, and be made warm and comfortable at all times, at no very great expense. Mercy to these unfortunate little ones, who have offended no law, requires it; and I trust it will engage your early and earnest attention. The lower rooms might be occupied by the insane, when occasion required, until some better arrangements, for such contingency, could be perfected.

I have made repeated examinations of every department of the prison, and uniformly found it scrupulously clean—the inmates presenting a neat and tidy appearance—to which, in a great measure, the good health of the prison is due. The quietness, good order, and cleanliness, prevailing throughout, attest the vigilance, care and good judgment of its capable head and manager—Mrs. Mary Hubbard.

A merciful providence has guarded us from epidemics and pestilence during the past few years; but whether we shall remain so favored for the next few years to come, time, alone, can reveal. Present signs and indications do not favor this conclusion; and prudence would seem to dictate that we should prepare for the unwelcome advent among us of these dreadful destroyers of human life, and to guard against them, as well as circumstances will admit. To this end the ditches and sluice-ways should be cleaned and constantly kept so, and the yard and prison grounds entirely free from decomposing vegetable and animal matter. The habit of emptying the human excrements, and throwing all other offensive matter into the river, should be discontinued. The receding tide may remove it, but the returning tide is quite as likely to bring much of it back and produce an offensive odor about the locality. This could be remedied by depositing it in receptacles at proper points about the premises, and removed thence, at least twice a day, to some reasonable distance from the prison, and there combine with it sufficient lime, ashes and earth to entirely prevent the escape of the offensive effluvia, and thus secure a large quantity of valuable fertilizing material, serving the double purpose of enriching the farm and insuring cleanliness about the prison.

The agent, Judge Johnson, has, on all occasions, furnished good material for food and clothing, and also all necessary supplies for the welfare of the sick, which has been of material benefit and great aid in the discharge of my complex and arduous duties, for which I desire to return my thanks.

INSPECTORS OF STATE PRISONS.

Maj. Wm. B. Stanley, the principal keeper, has, in a very kind manner, enforced and carried out all necessary sanitary regulations, thereby directly aiding me, and contributing, materially, to the health of those under his charge. His experience and careful co-operation, in this as well as other particulars, has been of much value.

During my connection with the prison, I have endeavored, faithfully, to discharge the duties devolving upon the situation. How far I have succeeded, is left to your discriminating judgment.

In conclusion, gentlemen, for your kindness extended toward me, on all occasions, please accept my heart-felt thanks; and may an All-wise Providence so direct in the discharge of your duties, that it shall result in a blessing to yourselves and the institutions under your charge.

Yours with much respect,

P. PRYNE, Prison Physician.

STATE OF NEW YORK, Westchester County, ss:

I, Peter Pryne, being duly sworn, says that the foregoing report is, in all respects just, correct and true, to the best of my knowledge and belief.

Sworn before me this 24th day of November, 1865.

JAMES K. BATES, Inspector in charge.

CHAPLAIN'S REPORT.

To the Inspectors of State Prisons:

Gentlemen—Again, through a gracious Providence, the period has arrived when it is required of us to spread before the supreme authority of the State the progress and result of our labors.

I am truly thankful in being able to report a good degree of success attendant upon the measures of reform, which have been in progress, for a few years past, among the inmates of this prison. It is well known to you, gentlemen, that in former years the most severe discipline was regarded as the only system of managing convict labor; and it was thought that persons of their degraded character could, scarcely in any case, be brought to act upon the great principle of reason and moral obligation; but, after much discussion and effort on the part of the philanthropist and christian reformer, milder influences have been brought into use, and these have been attended with the most happy results.

The commutation of time, likewise, as a reward for good conduct, has had the most beneficial influence upon the minds of the convicts. The record of the prison will show, as the inevitable result of this system, that a large proportion of the men, and also of the women, are now pursuing their labor assiduously and quietly under the cheering influence of HOPE.

The correspondence of the men, with their relatives and friends, is still conducted in my office, and its supervision and management occupies a large portion of my time, but with no unwillingness on my part, for reasons already stated in former reports. It, moreover, affords me an opportunity to improve or control the tenor of their correspondence with the outer world.

Here, likewise, come for counsel and encouragement the stricken and sorrowing ones, who, under the monitions of conscience, and of the teachings of divine truth, feel the weight of their sins. The same opportunity is given to the sick in my daily visits to the hospital.

The yearly increase of our library, by the munificence of the Legislature, has furnished a creditable addition to the variety, as well as number of books; and it is gratifying to witness the earnestness of the prisoners, as they hasten to the office, on library week, to make a selection from them. The books are generally well used; and, yet, from constant use, they wear out rapidly. For continued replenishment we trust to the generosity of our friends and the Legislature.

My visits to the prisoners' families and to discharged convicts, in New York city and vicinity, are continued on every third week. In my estimation I spend no two days more profitably. The information thus acquired enables me to give suitable counsel and admonition in many delicate and difficult cases; and, also, in this way I become acquainted with the utility of the New York "Prison Association," of which I have spoken more at large in former reports.

The religious services consists, as heretofore, of preaching twice every Sabbath morning: first in the chapei of the male prison, and, immediately after, in the chapel of the female prison; also prayer meeting every other Monday afternoon in the male prison, and every other Wednesday afternoon in the female prison.

The prayer meetings are well attended, and, as the attendance is entirely voluntary on the part of the prisoners, we infer that it is a favorable indication of the moral and religious influence of the Sabbath services.

I would here gratefully acknowledge the valuable pulpit assistance I have received from christian ministers of different denominations. THEIR RECORD IS ON HIGH. It affords me much pleasure also to express my obligations to the principal officers for their presence and support in both chapels.

I superintend the correspondence of the female prisoners, at the female prison, at times specially appointed for that purpose. There is, I think, considerable moral and religious interest among them, the result, not only, of the public Sabbath services and prayer meetings, but, also, of the Sabbath school taught by the matron and her assistants, and the truly maternal character of the daily discipline.

I here beg leave to suggest, that the duties of the matron are rendered much more difficult than they ought to be, by the crowded condition of their prison, which makes it necessary to place more than one convict in a single cell; and by the want of suitably constructed solitary cells for the punishment of refractory convicts.

The teachers' reports and tables of statistics are appended. Allow me, in this connection, to suggest the practicability of doubling the amount of instruction by permitting a suitable convict to assist each teacher in his duties.

With many thanks for your kindness and the sympathy and aid of the officers and keepers,

I remain, gentlemen,

Very respectfully,

Rev. J. LUCKEY:

Dear Sir—We, the undersigned, respectfully beg leave to report that, since we entered upon the duties of teachers in Sing Sing male prison—tenth May last—we have had under our instruction one hundred and eighty-seven convicts, learning as follows:

To read, spell and write	94
Arithmetic	93

While we take pleasure in saying that many improve rapidly, and seem very desirous of appropriating all their leisure moments to study and improvement, we, at the same time, regret to state, that a number seem to be entirely indifferent and neglectful of their studies. Owing to the large number requiring our attention, and the limited time, necessarily, allotted to each, their progress, on the whole, is not so rapid as would be desirable.

As the number of convicts is steadily increasing, and the supply of spelling-books, slates and arithmetics is limited, we would recommend that a sufficiency be procured to furnish all who may desire the same; and, by so doing, many will employ their time in profitable studies, who would, otherwise, be low-spirited, and continually brooding over their melancholy condition.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

Yours truly,

SANFORD HELMER.
JOHN C. WALDO.

September 30, 1865.

Rev. JOHN LUCKEY:

Dear Sir—The number of women who have been receiving instruction since I entered upon my duties as teacher in the female prison, on the first of March last, is seventy. Among these, six have been transferred to western penitentiaries, four gone out by expiration of time, and one pardoned, leaving my present number sixty, which are learning as follows:

To spell, read and write	44
The alphabet	10
Arithmetic	6

Most of them seem much interested in the studies, and, I think have made considerable progress, especially in writing. Two hours of each day, excepting Saturday, are spent in hearing recitations.

Respectfully,

HATTIE E. HUBBARD.

MATRON'S REPORT.

SING SING, September 30, 1865.

To the Honorable Board of Inspectors of State Prisons:

Gentlemen—In compliance with the requirements of law as matron of the female prison, I submit to you the annual report of this institution.

September 30, 1864, there were one hundred and fifty-eight convicts in this department. One hundred and seven have been received during the last fiscal year, making the total two hundred and sixty-five.

Sixty-five have been discharged by expiration of sentence and commutation, twenty-five transferred to Buffalo penitentiary, four to Rochester, six pardoned, four died, one escaped and one sent to lunatic asylum.

The increase of those received the present year above the preceding one, is sixteen. With an increase of numbers our expenses must necessarily increase, which will be minutely reported by the agent and warden. Fifty are employed on the contract of Mr. Philo Johnson, making paper bags, twenty-five on the chair contract of Mr. Woodruff, thirty in State shop, sewing and knitting for this and the male prison, ten in hall, seven in hospital, five in nursery, five washers, seven ironers and menders, two cooks, three in matron's house, fifteen invalids and unemployed.

A good degree of health has been enjoyed by the inmates, for which inestimable blessing much credit is due Dr. Pryne for his judicious management.

Sabbath school and chapel exercises are attended every week, often with apparent interest and feeling. The convicts' prayer meeting is still continued, kindly sustained by their devoted friend Mrs. Lucky. If not a single soul is eventually saved through its influence, most certainly it has proved a powerful aid to discipline, subduing and holding in check these impetuous, restless spirits.

The school for instructing those who desire to read and write, is attended by fifty to sixty with very satisfactory results. Library books are distributed every two weeks to all who wish them.

An attempt was made on the first of September, by a few notoriously bad convicts to create a general insubordination, which, however, was soon subdued. While we would throw the "mantle of charity" over the fallen and unfortunate of our sex, hiding them from the taunts and jeers of a heartless world, yet the fact cannot be disguised, that a bad woman is more difficult to manage than a bad man. Hence, in such extreme cases we are forced to use severe measures; however repulsive it may seem to a refined and sensitive nature. Aside from this one instance, general good order has prevailed.

It may seem but a useless repetition to call your attention to the necessity of enlarging the female prison, but duty compels me to urge your serious consideration regarding this subject. One hundred and eight cells (several of those untenantable) are all we have for one hundred and fifty-nine persons, with the exception of a few in the hospital and nursery. April 13th, 1865, we numbered one hundred and ninety-two, the largest number ever here. "An act to authorize the removal of certain female convicts to the penitentiaries at Buffalo and Rochester," greatly relieved us in this extremity, transferring twenty-nine to those institutions. It would be an act of humanity to the convict, as regards both their physical and moral well-being, also an act of justice to officers who are held responsible for order and discipline.

It will be seen, by referring to preceding reports, that one or more lunatics have annually been removed to the State asylum at Utica. If this class can no longer be admitted to that institution, but judging from the past, accumulate here, will it not be necessary to make some provision for them? We have at present one confirmed lunatic, and others partially demented.

I take pleasure in saying that my assistants have discharged their respective duties with promptness and efficiency. The agent and warden has kindly aided and sustained me at all times, and is deserving the thanks of both convicts and officers.

With sincere gratitude to you, gentlemen, for every expression of kindness,

I am, respectfully yours,

M. HUBBARD.

SUPPLEMENTARY REPORT OF THE AGENT AND WARDEN SING SING PRISON.

SING SING PRISON, January 4, 1866.

To the Board of Inspectors of State Prisons:

Gentlemen—Since the date of my annual report a transaction has occurred in connection with the discipline of the prison, to which I deem it proper to call your attention.

Early in the month of November a false, malicious and libelous article appeared in the New York Evening Post, copied from the Boston Post, charging the officers of the prison with a series of cruelties inflicted upon a convict by the name of Evans, from the results of which, it was alleged, that Evans died.

This man Evans attempted to take the life of one of the keepers in the month of February, and was punished by the proper officers.

The appearance of the article in the Post was the first intimation that any suspicion of cruelty, on the part of the officers towards Evans, has ever been entertained. Evans died on the morning of the 3d of April last, and had not been punished in any way since about the 1st of March. As soon as he died, his brother was notified, and the next day after his death, came to the prison, received the body and took it home for interment.

It appeared from the article, as published in the Evening Post, that the Prison Association had in some way been made acquainted with the alleged cruelty, and had appointed a committee to make an investigation, of which Hon. John W. Edmonds was chairman. Under this state of the case I rested contented, supposing that the committee in question would, within a reasonable time, make their appearance for the purpose of examining the truth of the charges.

In the meantime I found the article had been extensively copied in many respectable public journals, and was creating a great deal of excitement through the country, to the injury of the prison, and great detriment to its discipline. I then published a denial of the charge in the Evening Post, and immediately called at the office of Judge Edmonds, and not finding him in, left a note, urging and demanding an investigation. A few days subsequently

Judge Edmonds called at the prison and instituted the investigation, and afterwards made a report to the Association, by which the whole charge of cruelty was found to be without foundation, and entirely exonerated the officers.

In the report of Judge Edmonds, after reciting the charges and the evidence, he proceeds to say :

"After my examination at the prison, I sought out the author of the charges, who was a convict in the prison at the time. All his charge was founded on statements made to him by Evans, or on rumors current among the convicts, except a few facts of which he professed to have personal knowledge, and as to all of them, he was contradicted by the evidence. When I informed him of this, and showed him that some things which he professed to know he could not possibly know, he merely remarked, 'Well, he supposed then that he was mistaken!'"

The charge, therefore, was based entirely upon the unsupported statement of a discharged convict, and was deemed of sufficient credibility by the Prison Association to make the charge their own, and appoint a committee of investigation. Had the matter rested here, I should not have deemed it of sufficient importance to have given it the least attention.

The proceedings before the Association were held in October last. On or about the 3d of November following, the statement of cruelty made its appearance in the Boston Post, over the signature "Nor Wester," and about the same time it also appeared in the Cincinnati Commercial, over the same signature. From those papers the calumny spread over the country, and in due time returned to the place which gave it birth, and through the columns of the New York Evening Post was for the first time brought to the notice of the officers of the prison. I immediately wrote to the editor of the Boston Post, asking for the original communication and the name of the author. In reply, the editor stated that the original was thrown aside, as was his custom with all such communications, but that the author resided in New York, to whom he had sent my letter, with the request that he would communicate with me on the subject. As yet I have received no communication from "Nor Wester," nor have I any positive evidence to satisfy me who he is, and what his relations are, to the Association. As near as I can ascertain the history of this transaction, and which I believe to be true, is thus :

In the month of September, a convict who was sentenced to this prison for life, for the crime of manslaughter in the first degree, was pardoned by the Governor upon the solicitation of persons in whom he placed confidence. This convict resided in the city of New York, and when released from prison returned to his home. A member of the Prison Association by some means procures from him the statement referred to—how they were brought in contact does not appear. This gentleman presents the statement to the Association, with the assurance that it was based on what he regards as reliable information, and the committee to investigate the offense was appointed.

At this stage of the proceedings another member of the Association appears in connection with it, and over the signature above referred to transmits it simultaneously to the Boston Post and Cincinnati Commercial, two points at least one thousand miles distant from each other, and some hundreds of miles from the spot where the calumny was concocted. Now, why was this extraordinary course pursued? Why was a statement so improbable on its face, thus spread broad-cast over the country? These gentlemen must have known the effect would be to degrade the officers of the prison, especially the principal keeper and the physician, the two immediately implicated, both of whom are men whose competency, integrity and moral character, would not suffer by comparison with any member of the Prison Association.

“Nor Wester” has since published a retraction of the charge in the columns of the Boston Post, in which he says, in speaking of the statement as it came to his knowledge :

“It naturally bore a plausible look, by which others than myself were deceived.”

The only source through which it came to the knowledge of “Nor Wester” and Association, as appears from Judge Edmonds’ report, was the naked statement of this pardoned convict, and this was deemed by the Association sufficient evidence upon which to base so grave a charge, and “Nor Wester” to employ the aid of the public press to give it as wide publicity as possible, a charge which, if true, would degrade the officers to the level of the savage, and should consign them to the same prison from which the informant had been released by executive clemency.

The Association holds its monthly meetings in the city of New York, within thirty miles of the scene of the alleged barbarity. Some of its members were personally acquainted with the principal officers of the prison. An hour’s ride would have brought them to the prison, where they could have met the officers, heard their statements and learned the whole truth of the affair, and thus relieved their philanthropic nerves from the shock which seems to have been produced by the statement of this highly creditable witness. They however chose a different course, and one which has caused the officers a great deal of annoyance, vexation, trouble and expense. The motive that prompted them, I leave for an intelligent public to determine and to pronounce judgment upon. It may be that public sentiment will absolve these gentlemen from all blame in thus wantonly tampering with the reputation of others, whose character, where they are known, is above suspicion. I think otherwise, and shall hold them, as I believe the public will, responsible for the foul slander.

I cannot dismiss the subject without expressing, on behalf of the officers immediately implicated, as well as myself, sincere thanks to Judge Edmonds for his gentlemanly courtesy, and the impartial manner in which he conducted the examination. Conscious of no wrong on our part, knowing the utter falsity of the charge, we had perfect confidence we should receive ample justice at his hands.

"We were not disappointed."

It may be proper in this connection to inquire what are the powers of this Association in connection with our State prisons? It may be important to know in the event of a recurrence of similar charges, based upon similar evidence. Convicts are discharged almost daily either by pardon or by expiration of the terms of their sentence. The great majority find their way to the city of New York. Among them will be found just as bad men as the one whose statement formed the basis of the charge in the case of Evans. It is not unfrequently the case that something occurs with convicts while in prison by which they become prejudiced against some of its officers. They go out with a determination to have revenge, and naturally seek such channels as will best aid them in the attainment of their object, and judging from this transaction, the Prison Association is just the medium they would naturally select to carry out their vile purposes. At least, so long as such men as the one who got up and presented the charge, and his accomplice, "Nor Wester," are permitted to take part in their proceedings.

I have examined the charter of the Association, in connection with other statutes bearing upon the subject, with considerable care, and have come to the conclusion that it confers upon them no power or right to visit our State prisons, or interfere with their discipline, than is by law conferred upon any other association of gentlemen.

The government and discipline of the State prisons is vested by law in the three Inspectors, and they are clothed with every necessary power to secure that object, and it is made their duty to see that it is properly maintained. In my judgment the powers of the Prison Association, under their charter, are confined to the prisons of the city of New York and to county prisons, and to them alone, and the right to visit our State prisons are the same as other individuals, and no more.

The prison is at all proper times open for visitors, and every facility afforded to inspect its internal affairs and management, and any suggestion, it matters not from what source, will be received by its officers and respectfully considered.

The discipline of the prison can no doubt be improved, but it is submitted it can never be accomplished by such wanton and malicious attacks upon those who are charged with its government and care.

I have deemed it my duty to present this matter for your consideration, leaving you to determine what action may be necessary to be taken in the premises.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

S. H. JOHNSON,
Agent and Warden, Sing Sing Prison.

AUBURN PRISON.

AGENT AND CLERK'S REPORT.

AUBURN PRISON, Oct. 23d, 1865.

To the Honorable the Inspectors of State Prisons of the State of New York:

I assumed the duties of my present position the 3d day of February, 1865, and it will be perceived that the fiscal year which I am now called upon to report, embraces four months of my predecessor's transactions, but which are no doubt correct as taken from the books of the office.

As a matter of course, the increased high prices of nearly every article required for the support of convicts, or for prison use, during the fiscal year ending September the 30th, 1865, over the before extraordinary high prices required to be paid during the preceding year, ending September 30th, 1864, have increased the expenses largely, whilst the number of convicts has been smaller than in the preceding year, which, although a gratifying circumstance as exhibiting a less amount of crime, has diminished the aggregate of the earnings, making a wider margin between the expenses of the prison and its actual earnings, as will be seen in the summary made from the tables of this year compared with the preceding year, which comparison, it has been customary for the agent of this prison to make. With these remarks, gentlemen, the agent and warden of the State prison at Auburn would respectfully report:

The average number of convicts on contract was 417.

The average earnings of each convict upon contract in this prison, for the year ending September 30th, 1865, was fifty-seven cents two mills per day.

The average number of convicts in prison, during the year, was 529.

The total cost of supporting each convict in prison, per day, including everything, was forty-nine cents eight mills.

The whole number of convicts in prison, on the 30th day of September, 1865, was 515.

There has been sent to the asylum for insane convicts, during the year, four, and one returned from Asylum cured. The health of the convicts in this prison during the past year has been uncommonly good.

The value of the real estate of this prison, as appraised this year, amounts to $554,554.00.

The value of personal property, as appraised this year, amounts to $34,910.96.

I take this opportunity to acknowledge my indebtedness to S. S. Austin, "deceased," for the able manner he discharged the duties of principal keeper during the time his health permitted him to remain, his experience in prison matters and his ability to govern convicts made his services invaluable to me, and in his death the State lost an able and competent person for that position.

I would also acknowledge my indebtedness to the principal officers of this prison for the able manner they have each performed their several duties, as well as the advice and assistance they have rendered me in the discharge of my duties—an assistance that no man need flatter himself he can do without when managing an institution of this kind.

Many of the keepers are well adapted for the position they have, and are entitled to much praise for the able manner they have governed the convicts under their control; also for the interest they have shown in the management of the prison; and although the Legislature has lately increased their pay, still, the very high prices they have to pay for everything they buy makes their present salary inadequate for the support of their families, and, unless their salaries are increased, I fear it will be difficult to retain men competent and adapted for their responsible positions.

Gentlemen, permit me to thank you for your many acts of kindness, for the advice, assistance and prompt support which I have at all times received at your hands in the discharge of my duties.

I have the honor to remain, yours truly,

JOHN H. CONKLIN, Agent and Warden.

STATE OF NEW YORK, } ss.

I, J. H. Conklin, being duly sworn, do depose and say, that the foregoing report is in all respects true, according to the best of my knowledge and belief. JOHN H. CONKLIN.

D. P. FORREST, Inspector State Prisons.

CLERK'S REPORT.

CLERK'S OFFICE,
AUBURN PRISON, Oct. 26, 1865. }

To the Honorable Inspectors of State Prisons of the State of New York:

The statute requiring the clerk of each prison to report to your honorable board on or before the first day of December of each year the number of convicts confined in the prison of which he is an officer, the various branches of business in which they are employed, and the number employed in each particular branch.

Having been installed as clerk of this prison on the 3d of February last, at which time I came in possession of the books and papers connected with this office, I am necessarily dependent on the figures of my immediate predecessor for the elapsed time of the fiscal year just closed previous to my installation.

PHYSICIAN'S REPORT.

HOSPITAL OF THE AUBURN PRISON, }
September 30th, 1865. }

To the Honorable the Board of Inspectors of State Prisons:

Gentlemen—I herewith present the annual report of the medical department of this prison, for the year ending September 30th, 1865.

No epidemic or infectious diseases have prevailed in the prison during the past year. The sickness has been about as usual in amount and kind.

The mortality has been less, two only have died of disease. Two others have died from the effects of gun shot wound, received outside of the prison walls while trying to escape. One died immediately, and the other was brought back to the prison and died in a few hours.

The annexed tables will give all the statistical information relating to the department.

Table number three gives the number on each contract for each month of the year. Also the number of applications and excuses for each shop per month and year.

It will be seen by this table that the number of applicants for medical relief and the excuses, are not in proportion to the number of men on contract.

The agent, principal keeper, and kitchen keeper, have very kindly co-operated with me in all things relating to the sanitary condition of the prison, and thereby greatly assisted me in the discharge of my official duties.

To you, gentlemen, I feel greatly obliged for your continued confidence and kindness.

Respectfully submitted,

JAMES D. BUTTON,
Physician, &c., Auburn Prison.

GAYLORD J. CLARKE, Inspector of State prisons.

CHAPLAIN'S REPORT.

AUBURN PRISON, September 15th, 1865.

To the Honorable Board of Inspectors of State Prisons of the State of New York:

Gentlemen—I have the honor to present the following as my annual report as chaplain of this prison :

I desire first of all to express gratitude to "Our Father in Heaven," who continues to vouchsafe to us His gracious favor, and blesses us with life and health.

The ordinary routine of duty required of the chaplain, is not materially different from what it has been for years past, all of which I have endeavored most faithfully and conscientiously to discharge, and I rejoice to be able to record that my labors have not been altogether in vain.

Several of those who have gone out of the prison, as well as some who are still here, have given good evidence of having exercised that "repentance towards God and faith in our Lord Jesus Christ" which is unto salvation. This is thought by many to be a very sterile field, and so it is. Still there are a great many men made better by being here. In my opinion very many more might be thoroughly reformed if the prison was conducted upon a somewhat different principle, and I am not without hope that such will yet be the case, for there appears to be with many of the leading men of our State, more of an anxiety to make the prison reformatory than paying.

There is no good reason why in ordinary times it should not do both, but it is vastly more important to society that these men should be reformed while here than that the prison should be made to pay expenses. In order to do this there must be a change from the present contract system, or some arrangement by which there could be a proper classification of the men.

I have noticed in many cases where but mere boys have been brought to the prison for the first offense they had ever committed, and that a trifling one comparatively, who, when they came were penitent and full of good resolutions, yet by being placed to work, march and constantly associate with older men, and those who have become hardened in iniquity, and perhaps have spent a number of terms in prison, and even "glory in their shame," their good resolutions have gradually given way, their hearts grown hard, and they have gone out of the prison schooled for crime. The language of inspiration is, that "evil communications corrupt good manners," and, that "one sinner destroyeth much good." Now if some arrangement could be made by which those who are well disposed could be kept by themselves while here, very many of them would, in my opinion, leave the prison thoroughly reformed and prepared to lead upright and honest lives.

If the above suggestions cannot be carried out, the next best thing that can, and I think should be done, is to take the most refractory and obstinate men, who are not only in trouble the most of the time themselves, but are constantly getting others into difficulty with them, and put them in a shop by themselves ; let them have no communication with any others in the prison, and let them in some way be designated as the bad men of the prison, so that bad conduct shall be made more disgraceful than it now is. The fact is that one bad and unruly convict can and oftentimes does make trouble throughout an entire shop of fifty or eighty men. As a general thing the punishments in the prison from one year to another, are confined to about a dozen or fifteen men.

Now my idea is that the rest of the convicts should be saved from their bad influence by having them kept by themselves, that is after they have had a sufficient trial, and every effort has failed to reform them, and they are still disobedient and ugly, then let them be turned to the "shop of disgrace." This would have a two-fold effect—first we should be saved their bad influence among the men ; second, it would greatly aid in keeping up the now very good discipline of the prison.

The Sunday school (or bible classes) continue to be held in the chapel, every Sabbath morning for an hour and a half previous to the public services. The school is still under the superintendency of Mr. H. A. Yates, to whom great credit is due for his continued efforts to instruct and benefit those who attend the school. Mr. Yates has acted as superintendent of the school for some nine years or more. The average number of convicts who are permitted to attend the Sunday school is about a hundred and fifty. Many more might attend, and would be glad to do so if we could supply them with teachers, which we find to be rather a difficult matter.

The prison instructors are punctual and faithful in the discharge of their duties, and appear to be anxious for the mental improvement of the convicts in their classes. Many of those who are permitted to receive their instructions manifest a good degree of anxiety to learn, and are making commendable progress in their studies. For more particular information upon this point I beg to call your attention to the teachers' report which are hereto appended.

The present arrangement of the chaplain's office; the enlargement of the prison library room, &c., which was done by the direction of your board, is a great convenience to the chaplain, and a general accommodation to the whole prison. Any of the convicts can now come to the chaplain's office without going into the hall as formerly, or troubling any one else about the prison. We now have room in the library so that we can keep the books properly classified and conveniently arranged, that the men who come to the bookroom for their books can select them without any trouble, and as we now have a library room large enough to work in, we can (and now are) keeping the books in good repair. For this improvement, gentlemen, you have my sincere thanks.

I suppose it does not properly belong to the chaplain's department to speak of the health of the convicts, and yet I take great pleasure in stating that there have been but two deaths in the prison during the past year, and one of those was of old age more than disease. This certainly speaks well for the sanitary arrangements of the prison, and to the praise of the prison physicians I think everything is done for the convicts when sick, that can be in such an institution as this.

I cannot close this report without speaking of the death of our very excellent and efficient "principal keeper" Stephen S. Austin, Esq., who died on the third of last August. I have been associated with Mr. Austin during all the time of his connection with the prison; I therefore know him well. He was a man of generous heart and noble impulses; as "principal keeper" he was the "right man in the right place." He was a most excellent disciplinarian. His death was felt by all the officers to be a great loss to the prison.

I desire in closing this report, to express my gratitude to our very worthy "agent and warden," and also to all the officers of the prison, for their uniform kindness and the disposition they have ever manifested to assist me in my work and do what they could for the mental and moral elevation of the unfortunate and wicked men here confined. .

Respectfully submitted.

D. P. FORREST, Inspector State Prisons.

AUBURN, September 30th, 1865.

To the Honorable Board of Inspectors of State Prisons of the State of New York:

Gentlemen—I am happy to say to you that I have not only been enabled to discharge my duties as chaplain of the prison, but I have also held religious services in the State lunatic asylum for insane convicts, every Sabbath at 2 o'clock, when circumstances would permit. The convicts, as a general thing, manifest much interest in the chapel service, and I have no doubt that some of them are very much benefited by it, at least mentally, if not morally.

We have had no disturbance in the chapel worth noting, during the entire year, and yet nearly all the inmates of the asylum attended the services. This institution is well conducted (so far as I can judge) in every particular. The provisions here made by the State for the protection and comfort of these doubly unfortunate men, is truly praiseworthy. I cannot see what more could be done for their physical, mental, or moral improvement.

Great credit is due the able and worthy superintendent of the asylum, for the manner in which all the interests of the convicts, and the institution, are looked after and attended to by him.

Respectfully yours,

B. I. IVES.

TEACHERS' REPORT.

Rev. B. I. IVES, Chaplain of Auburn Prison:

All seem to be very much interested in their studies, and eager to improve their time. Since I commenced my labors here several have begun to read, spell and to study arithmetic.

They are respectful and seem thankful for their instruction and privileges.

Respectfully submitted.

DARIUS R. SHOOP, Teacher.

Rev. B. I. IVES, Chaplain of Auburn Prison:

According to law I now make my annual report as teacher in the Auburn prison. The average number of convicts who have received instructions in spelling, reading, writing and arithmetic, are about seventy-five (75).

I have taken particular pains to learn them to read writing. They have been required to copy a verse from the Bible, and read it to me at our next meeting. I deem it important that they may be able to read the letters their friends may send them. Those who have devoted their attention to their lessons are able to read and write their own letters.

Many manifest an anxiety to learn, and make commendable improvement.

Respectfully submitted.

For the year ending Sep. 30, 1860, do	17,491 50 1861, 14,173 85

It is proper here to repeat what was noted in my last report, that in the above table of the weekly average of the cost of support for each patient during the eleven months ending September 30, 1859, the cause of the expenses being so disproportionate to that of subsequent similar periods was in consequence of its being the initial year of the asylum, when the expenditures were in some degree preparatory, and necessarily called for a larger ratio of disbursements.

During the past twelve months, though peace has returned to our land, yet nearly every article of subsistence has retained its maximum price, and many of them, especially those which make up the larger items of expense, such as flour, meal, coal, wood, lights, &c., are higher at this present time than at any period during the rebellion. Under such circumstances the strictest prudence must, of course, fail to confine our expenses to the limits of former years. The comforts and necessities of life are due to those under our charge, and we cannot, and would not, wish to make this unfortunate class more unfortunate still by any stinted rules of apparent economy. Whatever has been required for the subsistence, health, and ordinary convenience of the inmates, has, from time to time, been furnished them in their several departments. It will be seen by inspection of tables Nos. 9, 10 and 11, that the expenses of this year have exceeded those of the previous year, by two thousand seven hundred and fifty-six dollars and eleven cents. This increase has not been owing to any extraordinary outlays, but, as you are aware, is the result of a further advance in some of the articles of ordinary consumption. Under all the unfavorable circumstances of this increase of prices, I am yet able to report that our expenses during the year have been less than during the fiscal year ending September, 1860, and but three and a half cents more per week, for each patient, than during the year 1861.

The moneys appropriated for the construction of new warming apparatus, have been expended as per contract, and the results sought for in this new mode of heating, although not fully attained during the last winter, on account of an imperfect knowledge of the amount of steam generating power required, yet sufficient guaranty is made that, during the coming season, all that we can desire shall be accomplished.

The ventilating flues in the patients' halls, I found in size and mode of construction, inadequate for the purposes intended. I have rebuilt them with an increase of twice their former capacity, and with a different mode of outlet, so constructed that the foul air finds an exit at the ridge of the roof, and not, as formerly, near the eaves, where the upward currents were interfered with whenever the winds came from unfavorable directions. This enlargement and modification has greatly improved their value.

The front wall, which was being pointed at the time of my last report, has since then been thoroughly completed, and the old gateway, at the east end, been made higher, and much improved in convenience and architectural appearance. The felt roofing upon the barn has been removed, and a new one of slate substituted therefor. Also, in the basement dining room, a floor, which with its joists, had become entirely decayed, has been relaid and put in thorough repair. During the last winter the main water pipes under ground, leading to the boiler room and wash house, were discovered to have so rusted that in many places they had corroded through, and were leaking badly; it became necessary to supply their places with new ones, which was accordingly done. Other repairs and improvements, ordinary and extraordinary, have been made in different departments of the asylum, with all of which, from time to time, you have become duly acquainted.

The general condition of the patients during the year has been marked by no peculiarities of feature other than those usually occurring among this class of the insane.

We have had no epidemical diseases, and can congratulate ourselves on a strict immunity from all maladies and complaints of a malignant character. I need not remind you of the fact that a majority of our inmates are cases which have evidently labored under mental derangement for periods of time extending back further than the dates of their convictions. The proportion of demented cases is very great, compared with those of other asylums.

These added to the cases of chronic mania so swell our list of incurables that we are left with little hope of making any tolerable exhibit of curative statistics. Many of our patients, however, are materially improved from time to time, and nearly all of them made more comfortable here than they have ever been before, while society is protected from the dangers and the inevitable evils which would result from violence that certainly would be committed were they allowed to go at large and remain without proper restraint.

It not unfrequently happens that persons confined in our county jails for misdemeanors and crimes, are discovered to be laboring under mental disabilities amounting to incipient mania, dementia or some other form of cerebral disease, and for whom no plea of unsoundness of mind is ever set up, or any defense offered on the ground of their irresponsibility. Oftentimes they are tried with little formality and condemned to prisons, where after a considerable period of time has elapsed they are found to be of unsound mind, and at last, too often after long delay, are brought under treatment when the favorable period for their improvement is past, and they are thus consigned to custodial care rather than curative means.

In previous reports I have introduced the subject of provision for the criminal insane, other than those confined in the prisons of the State. I desire to renew my suggestions in reference to this class, and to urge the policy of instituting a separate system, to which shall be given the care of all who have perpetrated crime and become insane, whether they have been committed to the prisons of the county or State. I beg leave to again recommend this subject to your favorable consideration.

During the year the amount of labor performed by the patients has been equal to that of any preceding twelve months, as they have continued to afford assistance in gardening, washing, ironing, kitchen work and all other domestic occupations usually found in institutions of this kind.

Our garden has continued to yield its supply of vegetables, and we shall realize from it greater returns this year than during the last.

Religious services have been held in our chapel regularly, once on each Sunday, and to the Rev. B. I. Ives, our chaplain, my thanks are due, not only for the punctuality with which he has performed his duties, but more especially for the familiar, earnest and heartfelt manner in which he has sought to obtain the attention, enlist the feelings, and direct the bewildered thoughts of these unfortunate beings, in many of whom the light of reason is almost extinguished, and the fountains of affection well nigh sealed forever.

Mr. J. W. Wright resigned his position as assistant in the asylum, on the third of May last, in order to complete his studies preparatory to engaging in the active duties of his profession. As he remained connected with the institution longer than was agreed upon when first assuming the office, and in so doing contributed much to my own personal convenience, I take great pleasure in here expressing my thanks for his kindness in this regard, as well as my great obligation for his unfailing devotion to the interest of those committed to his care. The period of his official association with me I shall ever cherish as among my most agreeable associations.

On the nineteenth day of July last Mr. Henry A. Smith entered upon the duties of assistant and clerk, which post he has continued to fill to the present time. For his attention to the wants and comforts of the patients, and his endeavors to become acquainted with and to perform faithfully all the obligations devolving upon him, I desire also to express my thanks.

To the other officers and employees connected with the asylum who have aided me in my duties, and endeavored to carry out the object and purposes of the institution, I would return my acknowledgments.

In conclusion, permit me to say, gentlemen, that there can be no object within the sphere of your official inspection, which has more interest or claims more from humanity, than the special department you have placed under my charge. In seeking to accomplish the designs for which it was established, I have ever received your cordial support. For your kindness and your confidence I thank you, and again commend to your care the welfare of these objects of our common sympathies.

Respectfully submitted.

The average monthly number of convicts in prison, during last year, was 370.

The average monthly number of convicts in prison, during the year 1865, is $439\frac{1}{12}$, being $69\frac{1}{2}$ greater on the monthly average this year than in 1864.

The average monthly number of convicts on contract, during the time of the contract, is $155\frac{1}{3}$, being $127\frac{2}{3}$ less than in 1864.

The average monthly number of convicts on contract, for the year 1864, was 283.

The average monthly earnings of convicts on contract, for the time of contract, was $$1,832.67\frac{1}{4}$.

Beside the statement of unavoidable earnings, there has been 8,861 days' labor performed in the State shop, (so called,) employed as follows: Eight convicts in washing and drying clothes, fourteen in making and mending shoes, six in making and mending clothes, and one as waiter; 3,708 days in hall performed by twelve men employed in scrubbing and cleaning; 5,253 in kitchen performed by seventeen men employed as cooks, bakers, waiters, &c.; six men are employed as carpenters, coopers and painters, constantly, upon state work, erecting buildings, repairing, &c.; the balance, able to work, in preparing wood, gardening, grading the prison grounds. There are no idlers.

The iron contract expired March 31st, 1865, and the shoe contract July 1st, 1865. I invited proposals for the iron and shoe contracts. No proposals being received, the convicts were employed upon the manufacture of iron for the State. I would here refer you to the report of the manufacture of iron.

There is due from the U. S. Government, for 50,376 days subsistence of United States prisoners, at 40 cents per day, amounting to $20,150.40.

The appropriation of $4,000 for wrought iron doors, has been nearly all expended in the manufacture of 412 cell doors; 332 of this number were made in 1864.

In order to keep the plankroads in repair for the coming year, we shall need an additional appropriation of $1,500.

There has been two escapes during the year.

There has been discharged from this prison during the past year, as follows: by expiration and commutation 143; by pardon 270—of this number 261 were United States prisoners—3 sent to Auburn Lunatic asylum, and 7 have died. Out of the former number (145), all but four have availed themselves of the benefit of the law allowing them to earn a commutation of sentence by good behavior—a very gratifying result.

The inmates of the prison with but few exceptions have conducted themselves well. A large majority of them seem to be trying to earn all the benefits of the commutation law. There is no doubt but what this law is having a salutary effect upon the discipline of our prison.

The chaplain has been untiring in his duties, and has done much good in his way. He is always at his post, giving counsel and encouragement to all, and spiritual advice to those who seem to be honestly seeking it.

The Sunday exercises are listened to with much attention. The sabbath school is in a good condition, as the report of the chaplain will show.

The clerk, Mr. John C. Lewis, whose duties have been very large, is entitled, and should receive from the Legislature, something more substantial than mere praise from me.

The discipline of the prison during the last year, has been most excellent. Mr. John Wallis, the principal keeper, to whom this charge is mostly given, has devoted himself with an assiduity worthy of praise.

To the physician I am much indebted for his valuable assistance in carrying on the institution so successfully, and much credit is due to him for the efficient manner in which he has discharged the duties pertaining to his office.

My thanks are due to the officers generally for the courteous treatment I have uniformly received at their hands.

And to you gentlemen, who have treated me with so much consideration I extend my warmest thanks, hoping that long life and prosperity may be yours.

I am, with much respect and esteem,

Your humble servant,

JOHN PARKHURST, Agt. and Warden.

I, John Parkhurst, agent and warden of the Clinton prison, do solemnly swear that the facts and statements set forth in the foregoing report are just and true, according to the best of my knowledge and belief.

JOHN PARKHURST.

PHYSICIAN'S REPORT.

HOSPITAL CLINTON PRISON, Oct. 1st, 1865.

To the Honorable the Inspectors of State Prisons of the State of New York:

Gentlemen—Herewith I present the annual report of the sanitary condition of Clinton Prison for the year ending September 30, 1865.

There has been less sickness in the prison the past year than in either of the three preceding years during which I have been connected with it.

Of those transferred to the Insane Asylum at Auburn, all were of unsound mind when they entered prison.

I would avail myself of this opportunity to acknowledge my obligations to the agent, warden, and other officers, for their kindness and assistance in the discharge of my duties; and to you, gentlemen, I would return my sincere thanks for the cordial support and encouragement I have at all times received from each and all of you.

Respectfully yours,

JOSEPH H. SMITH,

Physician to Clinton Prison.

CHAPLAIN'S REPORT.

CLINTON PRISON, October 1st, 1865.

To the Honorable Board of Inspectors:

Gentlemen—Another year of labor as chaplain of this prison has closed up its account, and herewith I beg leave to present you my third annual report.

It is eminently fit that we should recognize the hand of a kind Providence which has led us through the year with so little to mar our happiness or impede our usefulness. There has been but little to distinguish this from previous years, unless it be that the number received and discharged, (being most of them military prisoners) has been larger than ever before in the history of the prison. While this has added to my labors, it has also given increased opportunities for usefulness, and I am not without gratifying evidence that some who have come and gone are wiser and better men by reason of their prison experience. My increased acquaintance with prison life produces a growing conviction that more men are reformed under prison influences, than the community at large give credit for. And this very skepticism of society as to the reform of men who have once been in prison, becomes one chief obstacle to any permanent reform. The greatest danger, and often the severest punishment a convict meets, is on his discharge from prison, in the averted look and cold repulse too often given him, even by good men. Social position at once, he hardly expects; but the avenues of business are also closed, and even menial employment is often denied him. With so few kind hands to guide, and so few kind words to encourage him in any good purpose he may have formed, the wonder is not that so many fall, but that any succeed. It requires great energy of character and stern integrity of principle, to come up from a low point to honorable positions in society, and where by previous misconduct stain rests upon the character, the difficulty is greatly enhanced. It is not strange then that some who go out from prison with the sincerest purpose of reform, find the battle too strong for them, and are overcome by the enemy. But the actual number of such compared with the whole number discharged, is much less than many suppose. If the somewhat general impression is correct, that as the "dog returneth to his vomit" or the "fool to his folly," so the discharged prisoner will return to his crimes, then he should never be discharged. If there is, or can be, no reformatory influence brought to bear on men in prison, if their case is hopeless, then the sooner we revise our criminal codes, and make life sentences the penalty for all crimes, the better for society. It would look less as if our criminal laws were made for the benefit of those who administer them. Incorrigible offenders should not be turned loose only to damage society, and profit police officers. If hopeless criminals, shut them out from the world, both for their own good and the world's good; ignore their humanity and immortality, and by all reasonable appliances turn their skill and labor to the highest market value. If, however, there is hope of their reform, then let that be the leading object of their incarceration, and let all prison managements contribute to this end, for that would be not only just and merciful, but in the end most profitable. Our Sabbath services have been attended with a good degree of interest, and to some at least I trust, the gospel has been a "savor of life unto life." Frequent letters have been received from those who have left us, acknowledging the good impressions made on their hearts by gospel truths, and expressing the purpose to live henceforth with God's help, temperate, industrious and virtuous lives. The accession of military prisoners to our number, has crowded our chapel to its utmost capacity during the summer, but since so many of them have been released we are again comfortable as to room. Our Sabbath school has been attended with much interest, especially during the stay of the military prisoners. A larger proportion of that class than of State prisoners, had received to some extent a religious education. The average attendance was about one hundred, but since their discharge the school has diminished nearly one-half. Our greatest difficulty in sustaining the school, is to secure a sufficient number of prompt and faithful teachers. We are obliged to depend mainly on keepers, and however well disposed to assist, their Sabbath duties often come into conflict with the school. But with all our disadvantages, this school has been on the whole, prosperous, and much good I am confident, has been accomplished.

A growing interest has been manifested in our library, and a much larger number of books have been drawn than formerly. I think it would be difficult to produce as large a body of laboring men outside of prison, who read so much, and from works of so solid and useful a character, as is read here. There is little danger of estimating too highly the educational and disciplinary influence of a good library in prison. And just here I would beg leave to call your attention again to the suggestions in my last report, in regard to the introduction of reading matter, aside from the library. I am informed, on good authority, that the same restrictions there alluded to, do not exist in other prisons under your charge. Allow me to ask if there are good reasons for making this prison an exception? The State appropriation of two hundred dollars have been expended, adding two hundred and twelve volumes to the number on our catalogue. Owing to the great advance in the price of books, and the growing taste for reading among our prisoners, it is to be hoped the Legislature will see the importance of not diminishing the appropriation. The correspondence of convicts has been largely increased the past year, as military prisoners have been allowed some special privileges in this respect. Two thousand one hundred and ninety-two letters have been written by prisoners or for them, and more than twice that number have been received. This causes much labor and some interruption in the routine of business, but in my estimation well repays the trouble and loss. The friends of convicts are generally very judicious in what they write, and often give excellent advice, which evidently exerts a happy influence on their conduct.

Two efficient teachers have been employed the past year, and better progress has been made than could have been anticipated under so defective a system of teaching. If the plan suggested in my last year's report, or some better one could be adopted, without too much interfering with the business of the prison, it would add greatly to the efficiency of our school. There are two recommendations in the teacher's report, appended, worthy of your special consideration.

- 1st. The introduction of the study of geography.
- 2d. Some better mode of lighting the prison hall.

This last suggestion was alluded to in my last report, and I am more than ever impressed with the belief that those who have the power to remedy the evil do not give to this matter the attention it deserves. It is a trite but very true adage, "Satan finds some mischief still for idle hands to do." The mind unoccupied with good will be occupied with evil. The best discipline of the prison, as well as the moral and mental good of the men, demand a right use of their spare hours, and if they have not good facilities for a right use of winter evenings, most of their spare hours are not lost merely, but worse than lost.

A few may possibly abuse the privilege of a well lighted cell, but shall the abuse of a few accrue to the damage of the whole prison.

A copy of the teacher's report, and the usual tables will be found appended.

In concluding this report, allow me to tender my heartfelt thanks to your honorable board, and to the officers of the prison, for the sympathy and aid I have received in the discharge of my official duties.

Respectfully yours,

J. A. CANFIELD, Chaplain.

TEACHERS' REPORT.

To the Rev. J. A. Canfield, Chaplain Clinton Prison :

In accordance with law and usage, we would hereby respectfully submit for your consideration and approval, a statement of our labor as teachers in this prison, for the fiscal year ending with the 30th of September, 1865.

During the confinement of military or United States prisoners at this institution (most of whom have been pardoned out) our schools were large; we have had under instruction, within the past year, two hundred and twenty-five pupils. The present number receiving instruction, is one hundred and eleven. Of this number there are studying :

Arithmetic	70
Learning to write	21
do read and write	15
do spell	5
Total	111

We are happy to be able to state that a very good degree of interest is being manifested by the pupils in general, and a very satisfactory improvement, considering their limited advantages. There has been inquiry for dictionaries and geographies, neither of which has been supplied for the use of the school. To meet the wants of the former, Town's speller and definer has been introduced, and is studied with interest. And the teachers would most earnestly recommend that the interesting study of geography be added to those already pursued in the prison school. In conclusion, we urge the importance of an increase of light in the hall, so as to afford a better opportunity for reading and study. All of which is respectfully submitted.

(Signed.)
